History

In 1977, the Charles E. Green Lecture in Law and Technology was endowed by Mrs. Joseph Galvin, in honor of Charles E. Green (1894-1981), a 1915 graduate of Chicago-Kent and founder of the law firm Green and Nystrom. The lecture series addresses the impact of technology on society, on legal relationships, and on methods of law study and practice.

Scope and Contents

Each series contains materials related to lecture planning. Each series includes a second set of lecture materials for 1994, as both the seventh and eighth annual lectures took place in that year.

Series I. The Correspondence series is almost entirely correspondence related to the planning and organization of lectures.

Series II. The Planning Materials series includes planning materials for each lecture, including speaker backgrounds, copies of speeches, press releases, and other miscellaneous event organization materials for both the Green Lecture and associated events.
