LEST YOU The Chicago-Kent College FORGET of Law is ideally located for a school of its kind. It is the only law school located in the downtown district owning and exclusively occupying its own building, situated in the very center of the great business district of Chicago, close to the City Hall and County Building and consequently affording advantages to its students such as are offered by no other law school. The building, classrooms, library and equipment in general, are very suitable. All this has been made possible by the zeal and interest of the Board of Trustees and the donations of many friends and alumni.

To help in this work, there was established a Building Fund to which a great many friends and alumni of Kent made pledges. At the present time we regret to announce, but feel that it is necessary, that a great many pledges to the Building Fund are past due. This announcement is to be taken entirely as a reminder by those whose pledges are in arrears and not in any way as a rebuke. We appreciate that in the present busy world we are living, that there are a great many important things that engage every business man's attention. However, the College Building Fund or Endowment Fund as it is now known was originated for and has been serving a most useful purpose and consequently is of paramount importance to the Chicago-Kent College of Law. It is hoped that this announcement will adequately serve as the only reminder necessary for those who have neglected their payments on their pledge to the Building Fund.

BEST The Review takes this last WISHES golden opportunity to bid a fond farewell to the members of the June graduating class. Our farewell to the class of 1928 is clothed with the very best of good wishes for the success of each graduate.

The Review also at this time congratulates those students who have successfully completed their post-graduate work at Kent. Their interest in and zealous pursuit of a thorough knowledge of law are excellent indications of their ultimate success in their chosen profession.

Over three score of men and a few women have diligently prepared themselves with a knowledge of the law at Kent during the last three or four years and are now prepared to prove to the Illinois Supreme Court their worthiness of admission to the practice of law in this state. Eight other students, already possessors of their Bachelor degrees in law, fired with an ambition for greater things in their profession, are concluding a year's advanced study in law. Commencement Day, June 7, will truly be a red letter day for all of them. The Chicago-Kent Review joins them in their rejoicing on this occasion and extends to each and every one its best wishes for success.

GIFT TO THE LIBRARY

One of the outstanding gifts to the college library received during the past year is that of Dean Burke who presented two hundred and twenty volumes of the New York Supplement. This fills a long felt want in our library and will be greatly appreciated by students and alumni.
