Announcement has been made by the President, Mr. Hemingway, that Chicago-Kent College of Law has been placed on the list of schools approved by the Council of the American Bar Association. The announcement, explanatory of the status of provisional approval, was made to the Council at its meeting in Chicago, December 11, 1935, following a rigid inspection of the Society for this year, by Trustee Charles J. Shaffer, Adviser to the Council. Schools placed on the approved list are given the status of provisional approval for a period of two years and are entitled to re-inspection within that time before final approval is given.

The following statement from the Resolution of the American Bar Association, published in the Council's proceedings, explains the new status of Chicago-Kent College of Law:

"The College is given the status of provisional approval. Schools placed on the list of the Council are entitled to assume that they have reached a clear understanding of the administration and objectives of law schools. They are entitled to share the honors among the schools approved, and to participate in the work of the American Bar Association. The status of provisional approval is a provisional recognition of the worth of the College, and is given in recognition of the College's achievements and promise of future achievement. The status of provisional approval does not confer on the College the status of accredited law school, nor does it confer upon the College the right to confer degrees in law."
LIBRARY FACILITIES AT CHICAGO-KENT ENLARGED

It is believed that few alumni are familiar with the extent and scope of the law library now available for the use of alumni as well as students at Chicago-Kent College of Law. There are more than fourteen thousand volumes in our possession, all of which are owned by the College.

For your information, the library includes all of the various state reports prior to the National Reporter System, and the National Reporter System to date. All important special series of annotated cases are included, such as, American Reports, American Decisions, American State Reports, and American Law Reports. The English case authorities will be found in the English Reports, full reprint, and the Law Reports to date. Federal statutes are included, and both sets of Illinois annotated statutes. A very fine collection of the best legal periodicals are also listed. In most instances these sets are complete and in all cases the current numbers will be found.

THE BUSINESS MAN'S LAWYER
BY HOLMAN D. PETTIBONE '14

The third of a series of articles to be contributed by prominent alumni. Mr. Pettibone is an alumnus of the Class of '14, and President of the Chicago Title and Trust Co.

I am happy to record a word of greeting to the students and fellow alumni of Chicago-Kent. The greeting takes the form of an effort on my part to pass along some views of the business community as I interpret them.

The chief temptation of many lawyers is procrastination. So many things can be put off until tomorrow; delays inherent in court procedure seem to carry over into other work of lawyers. The business man is impatient of delay. While he does not want snap judgments or carelessly drawn documents, he does expect prompt, thorough work, and he particularly appreciates documents and opinions which are readable and understandable. To the average business man is more interested in the results accomplished than in the detail of methods employed by the lawyer.

The undergraduate looks forward to the day when his advice and assistance will be sought by clients. Let him then appreciate that there has never been a better opportunity than there is today. New concepts of governmental duties and responsibilities and new standards of business conduct and social relationships are bringing upon us a flood of new laws to be interpreted and applied. This will tax the capacity of the most experienced practitioner and provide extraordinary opportunities for the young lawyer.

The lawyer who has ceased to keep abreast today is in danger of falling rapidly behind. He will not do to rely solely upon the statutes, the rules, the decisions and the theories of years past. Yesterday there was a change. What a fine opportunity for collaboration between young lawyers and seasoned mature lawyers! Each is a whole challenge to the other; they are interdependent. Together they can meet the needs of the most exacting client.

The ideal "business man's lawyer" today is a legal technician who has a working knowledge of the fundamentals of his client's business and is far enough away from administrative detail and administrative responsibility to exercise a detached judgment.

In conclusion may I register appreciation of numerous pleasant relationships with alumni out of which has grown a great respect for the practitioner, young or old, who really knows the law and knows how to apply it.

Additional shelf space provided this year has made possible the inclusion of Canadian materials. A collection of Canadian Federal cases will be found, including the Exchequer and Supreme Court Reports. The reports of the various provinces average business man is more interested in the results accomplished than in the detail of methods employed by the lawyer.

There is a large collection of standard text books to which are being added many important volumes each year. For the student of law, many works on jurisprudence and legal philosophy are provided. A fine collection will be found in the section on the history of law.

The reading room facilities have been expanded this year and new equipment has been provided. The capacity of the reading room has been considerably improved. The library is open from nine o'clock in the morning until ten o'clock at night, Mondays to Fridays inclusive. On Saturdays, the hours are nine A. M. to four P. M. Alumni are welcome to use the College Library.
A MESSAGE TO THE ALUMNI ON OUR FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Plans are under way for celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Chicago-Kent College of Law. It occurs to the editor that a few facts concerning the College and the work that it is doing may prove of interest to alumni who may not have been in close touch with the affairs of the College in recent years. It is fitting that, just at this time, the announcement should have been made by the American Bar Association that Chicago-Kent College of Law placed its name on the Association’s list of approved law schools. As is elsewhere stated, the Council of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar granted provisional approval at its meeting in December. This announcement comes as a recognition of the efforts that have been made here at Chicago-Kent over a period of years to maintain high educational standards. Urban so has been the desire continually to improve in the training of students to enter the legal profession and the practice of law.

Many problems have confronted the trustees, officers, and faculty in the course of this century. One sincere aim has been to bring about improvement within the College itself. Recognition from without has not been sought as an end. That this recognition should come, is proof that the policy has been productive.

Sometimes ago rules were changed to require of part-time students a four year law course. This was not done until after considerable study had been made that this change would provide greater opportunities for thorough training of the students to whom the changes applied. Increased admission standards, the setting at considerable sacrifice of a modern building suitable for the needs of the College, the maintenance of a competent instructional staff, all contributed in large degree to the reputation for thorough training which Chicago-Kent has long enjoyed. The library has grown considerably, and some fourteen thousand volumes and students are encouraged to take advantage of its facilities for research. Alumni will find in the library most materials which they may have occasion to need, and are invited to use its facilities freely.

Among the standards established by the American Bar Association which must be complied with by all approved schools is one of special significance.

"(1). The American Bar Association is of the opinion that every candidate for admission to the bar should give evidence of having attended a law school complying with the following standards:

(c) It shall not be operated as a commercial enterprise and the compensation of any officer or member of the teaching staff shall not depend on the number of students or on the fees received."

Most alumni know that Chicago-Kent is an educational institution and is not operated for profit. The requirement of the American Bar Association above quoted is completely met. The carrying on of the work of College has been made possible through the income derived from a permanent endowment contributed in part by alumni.

Under the present arrangement of classes full-time students who are not employed and who attend classes during the day, and part-time students who devote their evenings and late afternoons to the study of law, are enrolled. Special attention has been paid to the needs of these types of student. It is believed that part-time students in particular receive more thorough training in small classes where individual attention can be given to the work of each student. The outcome of this has made necessary the creation of many sections of each course and has made necessary an increase in teaching personnel. This has resulted in placing an increased load upon income from permanent endowment.

The trustees now have to consider the necessity of an increase in endowment in order to maintain this policy. Alumni have not been bothered by continual requests for gifts. This has been received begging letters. It has been thought however that the endowment may be increased if they were apprised of the work the college is doing, would be willing to assist in carrying forward this work. For this reason, for the first time in many years alumni are being asked to come forward with contributions to permanent endowment no matter how small.

This request is made with full realization of the many problems, financial and otherwise, which have confronted lawyers during the past few years. There are ways, however, that contributions may be made with out undue strain on financial resources.

A short time ago a gift of a small tract of land was made to the college by Ralph H. Burke, ’16, and William A. Grover. This land at the present time is not productive of a large income but is unencumbered and is so rented as to show a small annual profit. It will be carried as a part of the endowment and will eventually be worth several times its present value.

This has given rise to the thought that many alumni may also have real estate, stocks, bonds and other securities, which, while not productive, may, when the years may come to have some tangible value. These new may be of sound value to their present holders, but as part of the permanent endowment of the College would be of great assistance in building endowment to carry forward the work in the future.

Contributions of this kind would be of personal advantage to the donors in many ways, not only in the problem of taxes, and would help to insure the attainment of the educational aims of the College and its students, present and future. Certainly these gifts can be devoted to no more worthy purpose.

A majority of Chicago-Kent Alumni are practising lawyers. Your advice is frequently sought in the drafting of wills and trusts to assist in the selection of some worthy charitable enterprise to which bequests may be made. Gifts devoted to the cause of education probably accomplish more permanent good to society than almost any other type of charitable enterprise. Money or property which becomes part of the endowment of the College is permanently devoted to the accomplishment of the most worthy objectives. You are rendering a service which you, as alumni, to the College, in bringing this matter to their attention. You also have an opportunity to assist by including a bequest to the College, no matter how small, in your own will. Chicago-Kent of the future will reflect and justify the loyalty of its Alumni of the present.

SUCCESSFUL RADIO DEBATE SCHEDULE

The schedule of the Kent Debates for 1937 is now well under way. This program of intercollegiate debates has been arranged by Professor Edmund W. Burke through the facilities of radio station WLS. KENT LAW CLUB OF A.E.F. UNIVERSITY

Memories of the troubled days of the World War were recalled by a letter from Samuel E. Davidson, '17 recently received. Mr. Davidson enclosed a program of the Smoker given by the College of Law of the A.E.F. University at the Hotel Des Frane in Beaune, April 28, 1919. The following excerpt from his letter describes the organization of the A.E.F. University and the College of Law, "At the A.E.F. University in Beaune, France, the soldiers and officers attending the Law schools in connection with various universities, organized Alumni Associations, one of which was the Kent Law Club. This might also be called a fraternity, among which were several members who had attended the Chicago-Kent College of Law or were attending the same at the time the war broke out.........."

"The Course consisted entirely of lectures, one text book to a class. The pupils, upon arriving at the school were immediately handed big shovels and wheel-barrows to make roads, and then erected the school buildings, laid the floors, built benches and tables."

The names of Samuel E. Davidson, '17, and William K. Hooka, '23, appear on the program of the Smoker. Captain Warner A. Cary was Chief Justice of the Law School of Harvard University, is listed on the program as director of the University and speaker at the Smoker. Mr. Davidson states, "the program looks mild but the party was wild." He indicated that he would send a picture of the law school which we will try to include in a future issue.
NEWS OF THE FRATERNITIES

ALPHA SIGMA IOTA

The Alpha Sigma Iota Fraternity, represented at Chicago-Kent by Alpha Chapter, is indeed proud of its oldest chapter for having achieved scholastic supremacy by winning the Phi Delta Phi Scholarship cup.

The chapter is receiving successful and active leadership from its new chancellor, Harry Jaffe. The other officers are Sol Puterman, vice chancellor; Paul Peter Black, Secretary; Carl Sussman, Treasurer; and Harry Zaidenberg, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Alpha initiated four new men on September 27, 1936 at the Medinah Club, where a dinner dance was held in their honor. The initiates were Joseph M. Tobias, I. James Nicholas, Samuel Herman and Bernard E. Levin. Successful Alpha men at the last bar examination were: David Bergman, Samuel Theodore Cohen, who incidentally became the youngest lawyer in the state.

DELA OMCION DELTA

The Delta Omicron Delta Legal Sorority held its annual rush party in the Rose Room of the Sherman Hotel on October 25th, 1936. A novel form of entertainment was presented in the form of a mock trial written and produced by the members of the sorority.

The chapter is proud to announce that on June 28th, 1936 Max C. Liss, professor at law at the John Marshall Law School was inducted as an honorary member. The chapter is taking an active part in contributing to the success of the newspaper "The Advocate" which has just been established as the official organ of the Fraternity.

Delta Omicron Delta had its own table at the Thanksgiving Supper-Dance of the Women's Bar Association at the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

Miss Edna Sopkin, Secretary of the sorority and member of the class of February, 1935 of Chicago-Kent, was admitted to the Illinois Bar on October 15. The sorority is represented at Chicago-Kent this year by Miss Sime Zibal and Miss Mae Jacobs.

WEBSTER SENATE

Webster Senate was awarded the scholarship cup for the year 1934-1935 offered annually by the Delta Theta Phi Law Fraternity for the best scholarship record among its member senators. The cup was presented by Master Scholar Percy Power of Detroit, at a banquet held at the Hamilton Club on October 24th. Among those present were Judge Harold P. O'Connell, Master of Chancery Otto Rentner, and Joseph Harrington, prominent Chicago attorney and alumnus of Chicago-Kent. Professor Severns brought a message of congratulation from the officers and trustees of the College, and a congratulatory letter from Dean Burke was read.

KAPPA BETA PI

The last year for Kappa Beta Pi was a very active and pleasant one. We are pleased to announce that in May of last year the Misses Blanche Monaco, Etha Beaumont, and Velma DeRiemer were pledged at the Sukiyaki Dinner Party given at Futa's Japanese Restaurant on Oak Street. They were initiated in June at a joint initiation of all Chicago Chapters of Kappa Beta Pi at the Blackstone Hotel. It was a lovely affair and was presided over by our Grand Dean, Mrs. E. H. Fahey.

In June the Alpha Chapter entertained at Mandell's Tea Room for the graduates of the year, Sara Sando and Veronica Schultz, both of whom have been fortunate in securing good legal positions. We wish them great success.

Election of officers this year was held at the home of Dean Charlotte Lewis at which time those duly elected were inducted into office. They are Dean, Mrs. L. B. Evey, Vice-Dean, Mrs. Ellen DeForest; Chancellor, Ethel Gustafson; Registrar, Agnes Kasper, Marshall, Blanche Monaco.

NU BETA EPSILON

Benjamin Chapter of Nu Beta Epsilon began the Fall semester with the following newly elected officers: Chancellor, Bernard Wolfe; Vice-Chancellor, Herman Griesdorf; Master of the Chapter, Bernard Kurilansky. Two new men, Ralph Gordon and Irvin Goldberg were initiated into the Chapter, thereby increasing the active membership, which lost five members by graduation in June.

Our goal for this semester is the establishing of closer Inter-Fraternal relations with the hope of eventually stimulating interest among the organized groups in debates, round-table discussions and possibly sports. An unanimous vote gives to the new students of Chicago-Kent, the first Nu Beta Epsilon Freshman Award, which will be made to the freshman having the highest scholastic standing. Every freshman enrolled in September is eligible.

PHI DELTA PHI

William L. Prosser of the University of Minnesota Law School addressed the chapter at its October 20th meeting. The following new members were initiated: Fred Andrews, Arthur Cordell, H. S. Hardy, Arthur Jenkins and William McCleanham. Professors Hemingway and Zacharias have been re-elected as faculty advisors.
