MEN IN THE SERVICE

As predicted in the editorial of an issue of the BULLETIN last spring, Chicago Kent College of Law would send more than her share to the front. And so have those remarks been verified, for her students are flocking to every branch of the service. Many are having the good fortune and opportunities to become officers, others are taking their chances with the enlisted men. But whatever their rank, they are doing their duty.

Edward J. Veasey, '16, who was Professor of Public Speaking at Chicago and is Editor of the BULLETIN, is at Fort Sheridan for the second officers' training camp. Unless he is thrown out for some physical defect we predict Professor Veasey will soon be Captain Veasey. W. B. Marxsen, ex '18, an associate editor of last year, is also at Fort Sheridan in Company 22. Among other men of whom we have word at Fort Sheridan are former Lieut. Gov. Barrett O'Hara, Roger Faherty, Joseph Fitch, son of Judge Fitch, Battery 6; Farrell, Company 20; Bert Crinson, '17, J. A. Smith, '11, Company 18; Barney Gissel, '14, R. J. Smith, '15, Paul Koenig, '16, W. T. Pridmore, '16, Shipman, '15, Geo. J. Woods, '17, J. L. Sears, '17, Samuel E. Davidson, '17, of wrestling fame; Hurley, Ely, '19, and Grover L. Todd, '19.

K. J. McCauley is in the Naval Reserve.

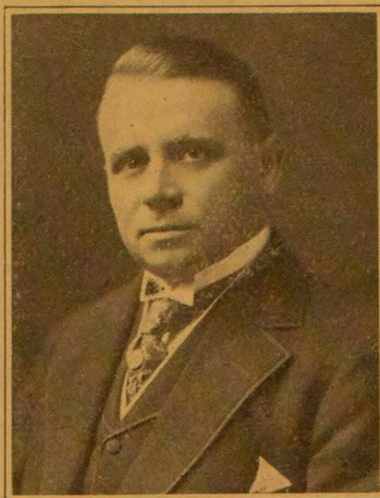

"Art" Ennis, '16, and Andrews, '16, have passed aviation exams, taken the oath and are awaiting their call.

Thor Wassburg, '19, T. McClory, '18, Theodore Levine, '18, and Harry Purcetti, '18, are with the marines.

Warren Crawford, '18, arrived in France the second week in October and will enter the ambulance service.

Preston L. Davidson, '16, Abner Stilwell, '15, Fleming, '15, M. M. Peregrine, '17,

Ednyfed H. Williams, '12, is one of the six who left for France recently to assist Stanley Field, of Marshall Field & Co., in Red Cross work. Mr. Williams went in the capacity of general organizer for the American Red Cross. This position is one which requires skillfulness in organization and real ability, both qualities being possessed to an admirable degree by the gentleman chosen.

Mr. Williams has had lots of experience for one young in years, having been editor-in-chief of the Hamiltonian and the Tricolor magazines, a director of the Illinois Athletic Association, secretary of the Three Score Ten Club, besides having his regular law practice and enjoying a reputation of being a very successful financial counselor. During the recent National Republican campaign he acted as assistant to Fred Upham, the Western Treasurer of the National Committee.

Mr. Williams receives no financial remuneration for his services, but has patriotically offered them gratis to his Government. He is well remembered at Kent, where he successfully pursued his studies in law.

Shortly before his departure for France his many friends tendered him a banquet at the I. A. C.

OBITUARY

It is with the deepest of regret that we announce the death of Ernest Melville Stephens, '15, Master of Laws, '16, on Sept. 17, 1917, at Fort Sheridan, Illinois, while engaged in regimental drill. He died instantly as the result of a fall from a horse, and was the first man from Chicago Kent to die in the government army service, and the first casualty at Fort Sheridan Officers' Training Camp, in which he was enrolled.

Mr. Stephens was a member of the Delta Chi Fraternity and President of the Young Men's Bible Class of the Austin M. E. Church, and lived with his parents at 225 Laurel Ave. He was also member of the law firm of Osborne, Cloud & Stephens in the Westminster Bldg. His loss will be felt by all of his classmates in the alumni and friends in the faculty, especially for his splendid work and ambitious endeavor to make good. Mr. Stephens was making exceptional progress in his law work and seemed to have unlimited opportunities. We had him picked for another Kent man who was going to make good. He had all those qualities and what deeper praise can we give any man?

Mr. Stephens' name will be marked on the army records as having been "killed in line of duty."

GREETINGS

The BULLETIN takes this opportunity of extending to you men and the alumni of Kent greetings. Through your courtesy and support the BULLETIN has lived through its infancy and is now in vigorous youth, grasping every opportunity to develop as it should. You men of Kent, take pride in this, our college paper, and see that it is given the proper nourishment; see that this is a paper of which you are proud. Two or three men cannot give up their time and make a paper all it should be; it takes the student body as a whole. It is your duty, of course, to be a subscriber, but be more; help contribute to its columns. If you are not endowed with the poetic graces of Kipling or Service you can at least hand in a local item of what your friends and classmates in this college are doing. Let the BULLETIN become a record of your college days and file its copies where they are handy for reference. No days will be more pleasant than your days at Kent and the BULLETIN can preserve their memory. Grasp the opportunity which it offers. The names of the editors which appear on the front are the men who are appointed to look after news, but do not wait for them to hunt for you; you find them or go direct to Mr. Duranto, '18, chief of staff.

EDITORIAL

Start your study of law in the right way. No doubt every student entering this year has every intention of doing so. So have had the students of other years. As everyone knows, school is just what the scholar makes it. Every year the men enter and apply themselves diligently to their work. But as the time passes and as the duties increase, the real test comes. Some begin to slacken and slowly lose their grasp on their studies. This is what we are warning you against. Do not allow yourself to slip behind in studies or in the preparation of lessons. With a double burden of work during the day and classes at night, it is very easy to slip the necessary preparation. Arrange your daily schedule so that each day you can at least read your lessons through and review them after classes. Right at the very start form the habit of daily preparation instead of letting it pile up for Saturday and Sunday. Save the week-end for review of the past week's work and a "running start" for the coming week.

This is advice which your professors give you and which experience and your common sense should teach you. We repeat it in the hope that it will help you to form the golden rule, which you must follow if you succeed in law. Perhaps from this trend of thought you can formulate for yourself a motto which will stand out before your eyes as words chiseled in marble. Start in the correct way and the chances are more than even that you will succeed. Your instructors are the best that can be had.

QUICK ACTION.

"I'll just bet any amount," she told me, with averted eyes, "that I never sit on the knees of any man."
And so I took her up.

John L. Smith, '18, has received his notice and has successfully passed physical exam. for the second draft.

The classes are gradually increasing. If the students continue to come the enrollment will be equal to that of last year.

Although the war is taking many men away to the front and to the training camps, there are still those left who must be here to help the routine continue. And they are thirsting for knowledge the same as the rest of the boys.

Nullus Bonus is better than ever this year.

James T. Bristol, '17, president of last year's senior class, was married Wednesday, October 2nd, 1917, to Miss Rosalie McGillen of Chicago. Their wedding tour was in the East. "Jimmy" was exceptionally well known in Kent and liked by everyone. All extend to him and his wife their heartiest congratulations. Mr. Bristol is at present chief credit man of Price & Teeple Piano Co.

Tine Daggett, '17, well known student, was around after his BULLETIN the other day. He said he didn't want to miss any copies.

George Henry Joseph McCaffrey, '17, is having a hard time keeping away from school this year. Every once in awhile he comes around and starts into class only to remember that he has been graduated.

A number of Kent men took the fall bar exam. and passed successfully. They report a more exhaustive examination than ever. Moral—Hurry up and take your ex., pretty soon no one will be able to live through it.

By the way have you stopped at Bridie's for a lunch?

Edward Fiedler, '17, is busier than ever since he passed the bar ex., and he is making good, too.

Walter Mannon, '17, is practicing law in Aledo, Ill. He will have open house whenever a Kent man passes through that part of the country.

Samuel Council, '17, of Year Book fame, hasn't been around since college opened.

THE BURKE DEBATING SOCIETY

The Burke Debating Society is again meeting regularly on Thursday evenings after class sessions, and with the strong support it is receiving it promises to be an important factor in school life. Each meeting is presided over by one of the members, appointed by the President. The program usually consists of a debate between two teams on some live question of the day. The only qualification for membership is that the prospective member be an enrolled student of the Chicago Kent College of Law, and attend the meetings.

The first meeting was held on Sept. 20 for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing term. The selection of President required three ballots to be cast, as Messrs. Riordan and Junkerman were twice tied for first place. The following officers were chosen:

President—Leslie L. Junkerman, '18.
Vice-President—Wm. D. Saltiel, '18.
Secretary—John G. S. Linner, '18.
Treasurer—Samuel Wittelle, '18.

On Sept. 27 the newly elected officers were installed. Each was called upon to address the members and responded with stirring speeches.

Chas. T. Flota, '18, presided over the meeting of Oct. 4 in a very able manner. The question for the evening was, "Resolved, That Congress should be given the power to regulate marriage and divorce by an amendment to the Constitution of the United States." The affirmative was supported by Messrs. Cottrell and Saltiel, and the negative by Messrs. Bernstein and Novotny.

Ed. Steinke, '18, was again appointed chairman of the program committee. He has prepared a calendar of debates for the whole year.

The President appointed the following committee to arrange for debates with other schools: Messrs. Saltiel, '18, Riordan, '18, Handelman, '19, Cohen, '19, and Steinke, '18.

Randolph Thornton passed the October bar examinations, held at Springfield. "Dixie" received a special letter from the Board of Examiners, which means that he was among the highest in grades.

Among the students of Prof. Pickett's quiz course who passed the July bar exams are H. P. Bronson, C. O. Fowler, H. A. Long, E. H. Fiedler, W. L. Mannon, H. J. Heart, H. J. Goldberger and Newell McCartney.

John W. Michael, Jr., was exempted in the draft because of a dependent wife.

JUNIOR NOTES

Fairfax Townley, '19, hasn't gone to war and attends school once in a while.

Peter, '19, is still a civilian and as intent as ever in the study of the law.

Be careful what you say before Gatenby or he will have you called before the Board of Review.

Gordon New, '19, is thinking deeply on the question of capital and labor and hopes to solve it soon.

Gubbins, '19, has changed to this school from De Paul University, where he had his first year of law.

Handelman, '19, is still trailing Junkerman, '18, and many are the interesting discussions which ensue. The socialistic is still just as deep as ever and as yet unsolved.

Peterson, '19, and Myers, '19, are studying together most every evening, at least they always have their lessons.

Perigrine, '19, is just as big and good looking as ever.

Holmes, '19, is starting out the year like he will take all scholarship prizes.

Oscar Lunstrand, '19, is at the Great Lakes Naval Training camp and has passed his exam. for a warrant officership. Once in awhile he finds time to visit a few minutes with the fellows.

John Phillips, '19, is busy taking care of the office and going to classes. Anything that you want to know about law books ask him.

Sergeant Zadek, '19, is still after the crooks of Chicago, so be careful.

Philips, Klineck, Grotefeld, Goodman, Herman and Nathan Bogolub, Trunk and Cohen, are all working hard in the second year public speaking class and are doing good.

There seems to be many openings in law offices this year for the students. So many law clerks are going to war that it has been reported (we do not guarantee its truth) that a living salary has been offered. Whether this means that the profession is going up or whether someone is inclined toward falsehood is a matter of conjecture. Anyhow there does seem to be a possibility that a law clerk will receive the rating of a stenographer and receive pay according, if only for the duration of the war. This paper is not anarchistic but it does believe a law clerk is entitled to live.

Perhaps it would be fitting to reprint a verse of the poem entitled "Ode to a Law Clerk," which appeared in the BULLETIN last April—

"But such is the fate of a law clerk,
Although he must sleep and repast,
His employer expects him to thrive on work,
And replevin and assault and tres-pass."

A number of students are prominent four-minute workers. The four-minute men are taking a leading part in work for the second liberty loan.

SENIOR CLASS NOTES

Frank Foster and Eddie Nagle and Billy Marxsen are missing this year from the Senior Class roll, Foster being at Rockford, Nagle at Houston with the Hospital Corps and Marxsen at the second Officers' Training Camp at Fort Sheridan.

"Bill" Bailey hasn't come back, either, as he has his blue card already and it's only a question of days now till he "joins the army."

What d'ye think of Gilman Smith and his twin babies? Have you congratulated him yet?

Who is going to get called for the second draft?

Keplinger and Ferguson go in strong for hiking and long distance jaunts, and a matter of eight or ten miles means nothing to them. In their journeys they have traversed nearly every corner of this city and most of the suburban district.

All right, boys, let's go. Floto is back this year. And so is Squarcy, so our quota is now complete.

As Prof. McClanathan said, "A billion dollars is a whole lot of money." So is two chapters in bills and notes.

In much the same light as Miss Pabst—who said at a recent trial, "Who am I—a flagman or what?"—reposes the fellow whose trial is next on the program and wonders who the goat will be—he or the other fellow.

Jerry Farrell, '16, is a busy man these days tending to the law business of Thos. Cusack Co.

Bob Bracke is a rookie now at Rockford, and likes it, too.

Albin Ahlberg, who was forced to leave school last year because of typhoid fever, has completely recovered and at present locks the part of a young Samson, but is going to wait awhile before he starts the grind again.

The congenial lineup of Phelps Dwyer, Loftus Everett and Pease, et al., has returned in full force ready to tackle the third year. Each is imbued with a good deal of "pep," which shows that they enjoyed their vacation. A newcomer added to this lineup this year is Snook. Snook is taking Art Swanson's place, Art having enlisted in the navy at the close of school last year. This is a combination hard to beat.

The second section is back in full force this year; the draft didn't get as many as we thought it would. Of course there are some fellows who complain about getting the window draft in the neck.

We noticed that Milt Summers had one of Linaweaver's old time friends with him for the last week. Allow us to express our sorrow, Milt.

George Turek and Pilz have changed their seat this year toward the "prof's" desk. We wonder if it's to gather more knowledge or to keep from leaning against the wall.

Our friend Wilkinson has returned to the fold and his recitations are better than ever. He must have enjoyed his vacation thoroughly.

Ed. Steinke is back on the job calling the roll of honor and is being pestered the same as last year by late arrivals; nevertheless he still wears the smile that can't rub off.

Chas. H. Miller advises us that he is back to gather more information about the intricacies of the law. (Quite a few intricacies to be gathered, at that.)

Roland Williams, the boy wonder from Wilmette, has returned and is still smoking Bull Durham.

IN DEFENSE

U-C—It's this way—you like to read it—you like to see what's going on—read its alumni column—maybe find your name in some little article—and we like to put it there—we like to get those little articles with your name or anyone else's in them—we like to please and satisfy—but darned if we can do it if you don't come across with your subscription. Paper, ink and labor have gone up, and we can't do all on praise or criticism, so won't you all chip in and subscribe and it will make it so much nicer, don't—U-C.

On Tuesday evening, Oct. 2, the members of the Delta Chi Fraternity entertained Major Ward Wright and Lieutenant Waller of the Canadian forces. Both men have been through three full years of actual campaigning in Flanders and France. A number of friends and alumni attended the smoker given in honor of these two officers and heard from their own lips some of the reasons "why we are at war." Major Wright is a member of the Delta Chi Fraternity, a graduate from Osgoode Hall in Toronto, and at present is with the British recruiting mission in Chicago to gather up more material for Canada's contribution to the fray.

SENIOR NOTES

The primary election was conducted in a most satisfactory manner. The second section enjoyed a lively campaign, incidentally furnishing all the candidates for President.

The Practise Court is proving more interesting with each session.

The Seniors are certainly busy. Five nights a week does not even leave time for reflection.

Fisher has given up the roll call and entered class politics.

After an absence of a year, Voight, who was a Freshman with us, has returned to the fold.

Sharpe did not change over summer and the draft doesn't worry him.

Theodore Levine is home on a 10-day furlough from Port Royal, S. C. Teddy is wearing corporal's stripes and is acting first sergeant of his company. He expects to receive a permanent appointment to this office as soon as he returns. "Ted" says the girls flirt worse than ever.

R. J. Snook is delving just as deeply as ever into the law.

Joseph Sullivan had the misfortune to lose his baby daughter. The whole school extends to him its deepest sympathy.

Saltell's mustache is just as handsome as ever.

Dr. Austin didn't succeed in the primaries but just the same the boys are for him, and, by the way, he is some dentist.

Angus has studied so hard lately that a sty is appearing to give him relief.

McInerney is filling all the cases in the Appellate Court and still finding time to attend to law school.

C. J. Moore lost his Phi Beta Kappa key but his recitations are just as brilliant as ever.

Gilbert is still thrillingly pursuing his studies.

Wyckoff and Lung are already displaying their ability as trial lawyers.

TO THE CHILDREN OF KENT

The year has flown, we've watched another dawn,

And at the dusk of one September day,
With reminiscences of days that now are gone,

The clans of Kent have gathered for the fray.

Have gathered for the fray in training camp,

Where doctrines of the law are well reviewed;

The Freshmen meek with thoughts of mid-night lamp,

The Seniors with a learned attitude.

Those Kentish men who now in khaki brown,

For us uphold the banner of the free,
We hail with homage proud, and pray renowned,

And for a safe return from o'er the sea.

May we, who in the ranks of Kent remain,
Ourselves hold true to life's most worthy cause—

Live for our fellow-man, not venal gain,
And leave behind us records without flaws.

The man who will uphold the cause of right
Remains unswerving in the path he's chose;

Speak when he ought, not domineered by might,

Succor the poor, thus earns a life's repose.

To thee, O Kent, thou who hast led us by the hand,

Through mysteries of law both dark, profound and grand,

As seats upon thy footstool once again we take,

To learn, to be, to do the right for right's own sake,

To thee our thanks, in thee our hopes, by thee our future planned.

NULLUS BONUS.

FRESHMAN NOTES

Willert and Smith are with us from Lake Forest University.

Suitor is calling the roll in the second section and Burke in the first section.

Robert S. MacGregor, graduate of Wabash College, '16, entered the past week.

Shapiro is getting too many names for his good conduct record.

As yet no class officers have been elected, but politics is brewing. "Nicotine Lane," made famous by Prof. Nimian H. Welch, is all abuzz. One walking past interrupts little groups, who pause until the offending party is well out of ear-shot. One or two names are prominently mentioned for the presidency, but the war censor deleted them.

Professors Messing, Northrup, Pringle and Welch are establishing just as enviable reputations as ever with the men. The students say it is just one good thing after another.

While ambition may be the cause of some evils, what would you give for the young embryo lawyer who is not ambitious? The man who is constantly striving to advance in his calling is the one who is going to develop brain energy. Most of the prominent men of our country developed themselves by using spare moments for gathering information.

Good, hard, conscientious work will do more for your final success than all the luck the other fellow seems to possess.

Become an Advertiser

Knowing that you are interested in a live proposition to reach the trade of the six hundred students attending Chicago-Kent College of Law, we invite you to become an advertiser in The Chicago-Kent Bulletin, which is published in the interest of these students.

The college is taking it for granted that this year every man in the student body will subscribe to the paper and do his bit. It is the only way a paper can be maintained at this school. Advertisements do not pay for the paper and it must depend upon subscriptions. With everyone subscribing steps will be taken to make the paper bigger and better as soon as possible. There is plenty of news about college to maintain a lot larger sheet, but, of course, there must be the extra money to pay for the extra paper and printing. Like every other good thing there is a big expense in the "up-keep."

ASSOCIATE EDITORS.

The editors for the editorial staff of the BULLETIN will be chosen this month. We want men who are interested in journalistic work and who will work patriotically for the cause. We do not want men who simply want their name to appear on the front sheet. The BULLETIN requires work and associate editors must of necessity take the burden. The men who are chosen will be considered carefully so that the best available material may be selected.

Russell F. Locke, '19, Ehmer Goldsmith, '18, are some of the Kents who have already received their commissions.

Among some of the men who are doing their bit at Rockford are: Sergeant John H. Schaubel, '19, Vaughn H. Griffith, '13, Henry J. Heart, '17, Frank Foster, '19, Claude Sheckel, Al McCaleb, '17, Paul Casterline, '17, Earl Linn and Robert Broeke, '19. All these men are having the best of times. Frank Sterba, '18, is at Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich.

Francis Wachter, ex '19, is now bugle sergeant at Houston with Company G of the First Illinois Infantry, under Major John V. Clinin, a Kent graduate of 1911.

There are many other alumni and students of Chicago Kent of whom we have received no notice, and we hope that their friends will turn in their names.

THE SENIOR PRIMARY.

The Senior plebescite,
If I tell the tale in rime,
Sure had us going quite,
For there was something doing
Every moment of the time.

From the moment Dr. Pickett
Said "Good night, now you go to it,"
Grabbed his hat and quickly flew it,
For the Senior's winning ticket,
Willing workers wafted weighty words
Within the room.

Uprose then our stately Budd, sir,
In a manner smooth as mud, sir,
Bade our gallant lads and lassies to be Good.

Next one Erlandson quick upsprung,
Talked about a lad named Young;
O, where was Poet Fergy then?
One speechlet from his silver tongue,
Were worth a thousand men.

Even Hansen had to spiel
Some fine words for Bill Saltiel
Salty's sure a likely lad,
When he smiles the world is glad.

But hark! Hold on! Back up; now whoa!
Some one is talking; what? Yea bo!
A calm hangs o'er the circumambient atmosphere;

The blue-flecked clouds in spirals gather
Darkly near.

Faith it is Harrington, forceful man,
Scattering words like a sprinkling can;

Peppery phrases,

Flowery praises,

High he raises

Our thoughts to a plane like the peak of a rock,

Where we see so benign, Al Austin, the Doc.

Stern Steinke strings strong stuff;
Of adjectives there are not half enough,
But thoughts have wings,
And Sullivan, yes, Joseph A.,
A good text is on which to say,
Some winning things.

Hades' wrath and Indies' gale,
Combined to swell my simple tale.
Poor Budd's voice was drowned in roars,
That echoed far through halls and doors,
But votes came next and that Young man,
And also Joseph Sullivan,
Were at the top.

All the others also ran,
But just kerflop.

The Senior class must have a Vice,
So Pabst appears both sweet and nice,
Proposes that Vice a Fisher be.
Who's done so much or well as he?

By Junkerman, grim, dignified,
Phil Foley's name was next supplied.

Then Linaweaver, prim, precise,
With chosen words, and eke some spice,
A perfect man would have us see,
Physique and mental rank has he.
The Blushing Halpin's name he spoke
Some rousing cheers his words evoke.

Our Scribe, a lass has been, and is,
She's on the job and knows the biz,
So Miss Levin fair Barnett names—
Three rousing cheers our love proclaims
But some rude man would break the rule
For lady scribes in Kent law school,
And classic Steinke's name we hear.
Was one more named? 'Twas Pete, it's clear.

The man who spoke was Peterson, John,
In the Senior class he is sine qua non,
E. A. Peterson is the man, quoth he,
He can write like blazes to A B C.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

Arrangements have been made this year to have two classes in public speaking, one for the first year, which has to do with voice culture and oratory, and the second year class, which includes extemporaneous speaking and debating. Mr. Witting is instructor of the first year and Mr. Owen G. Young is instructor of the second year class. The idea of dividing the classes this year is to give the first year men a chance to build a good foundation for the future and to give the advanced class more chance for individual work and actual practice. There is an enrollment of approximately fifty in each class. A lively and appreciative interest is being shown and much real talent is being displayed. Later on debates will be arranged with teams from other colleges.

Public speaking is rapidly becoming popular with the students, especially those who realize the importance of this study for future lawyers, and this course is rapidly taking its justly deserved place upon the curriculum.

The first Public Speaking Banquet of this year will be held at the Stevens Restaurant Friday evening, October 26, 1917, under the auspices of the Public Speaking classes. The committee on arrangements are Messrs. Philips, '19, Peter, '19, Goodman, '19, and Grotefeld, '19. The banquet will begin at 7:15, when a six-course dinner will be served. After the meal the after-dinner speeches will be had. Former Professor Veasey will act as toastmaster and the principal speaker of the evening will be Professor Messing. The other speeches will be made by a number of men from the two classes in public speaking.

Arrangements are being made to accommodate at least a hundred. Each member who can do so expects to bring a guest. The banquets of the past have always proved very interesting and entertaining, as well as one of "looked-forward-to" social events of the school years. The committee is now hard at work seeing that nothing is left undone to make the banquet a success.

This is the first of a number of similar banquets that will be held during the year.

For Treasure keeper there is such
A hot footrace, it beats the Dutch.
Novotny's name by Flota given,
In speech so grand the air is riven
By eloquence and well-turned phrase.
His graceful pose and charming ways
Quite wins our hearts and prepares us for
The next Beau Brummel orator.
From Gilbert next a message came;
It bore aloft Dan Portly's name—
Dan Portly, bland and debonnaire,
Who wears the smile that is always there.

When the votes were counted, there was quite a crop,
Fisher and Foley for Vice had the top,
Barnett and Peterson for Secretary,
Novotny and Portly for the fat Treasurer.

When the final vote is cast and taken,
May our faith in our class be never shaken;
May you also pardon with kindest grace
This horrid recital of the Senior race.
