Virus Alert - WinWord Concept (aka prank macro)

This virus affects MS Word files. If you have experienced the following symptoms:

1. Word will save files as templates instead of documents
2. When you open a document, you see a dialogue box with the number 1
3. New Macros 9AAAZA0, AAZFS, and Payload) appear in your macro list please visit the Center for instructions on how to eradicate it.

This virus spreads through shared files. If you share files with other Word Users, please be on the alert.
The Center for Law and Computers invites you to see our new and improved Web site. Just open Netscape from within Windows, or use the following URL (Uniform Resource Locator) if you are outside the school: http://www.kentlaw.edu/. The home page has been redesigned for a cleaner, sharper look. Throughout the semester we will be continuing to add more materials, so do come back. If you have any suggestions for materials you would like to see on our Web site, please email: webmaster@chicagokent.kentlaw.edu. (The webmaster account is the standard account for the maintainer of a website.)

The Center would also like to announce that our collection of Illinois Human Rights Commission Decisions has been awarded 3-Stars by The McKinley Group. As stated in the award to us:

Congratulations! Your Internet site IHRC -- Illinois Human Rights Commission Decisions [...] http://www.kentlaw.edu/hrc] has been selected by The McKinley Group's professional editorial team as a "3-Star" site. This rating is a special mark of achievement in Magellan, McKinley's comprehensive Internet directory of over 1.5 million sites and 40,000 reviews.

Upcoming Technology in the Classroom Sessions

"Using the Internet in Academia" will be presented on Wednesday, February 7th, from 3:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. in room 760. This demonstration and hands-on session will concentrate on how Chicago-Kent and other academic institutions are using the Internet to deliver instructional materials and as a research tool. Participation is limited to 20, so please e-mail Kristen McQuillin (KMCQUILL) to reserve a seat.

Windows 95

Although industry reports indicate that Windows 95 runs many applications and programs that students commonly use, the law school is still experimenting with this new operating system. At the current time the law school network does not support Windows 95. That means if you have Windows 95 on your laptop computer, you cannot connect to the network when you are in the building. Please watch The Record for more information about Windows 95 and network connectivity in the coming weeks. If you would like to participate in the Center's evaluation of the Windows 95 operating system, please contact Kristen McQuillin (KMCQUILL).

Protect Your Work

While it is never too late to learn good habits, the beginning of a semester is an especially good time to start. When working on a computer, be sure to make a backup copy of your work. All a backup entails is saving your file to a different floppy disk; that's all there is to it! It is well worth taking the extra 10 seconds as insurance against a bad disk or a lost disk.

Judicial Externships

JUDICIAL EXTERNSHIPS: SUMMER AND FALL 1996 SEMESTERS FOR SECOND AND THIRD YEAR STUDENTS WITH A MINIMUM 3.2 GRADE POINT AVERAGE

Informational Meeting

On Tuesday, February 13, 1996 at 12:15 p.m. in Room 270, there will be a meeting for all students who are interested in externing for a federal appellate, district, bankruptcy judge or magistrate for the Summer or Fall 1996 Semesters. Professor Vivien Gross will describe the kinds of experiences a judicial extern will have in the course of a semester, as well as how to apply. If you are interested in a judicial externship, but are unable to attend the meeting, please see Professor Gross in Room 617.

A judicial externship enables the student to become involved in particular legal problems through research and writing, and to contribute in the resolution of those legal problems. Depending upon the judge, an extern may have the opportunity to observe the day-to-day routine of a judge and discuss with the judge and the judge’s law clerk those legal problems which attorneys face in their profession, and the specific problems which attorneys confront in their courtroom. Take advantage of this wonderful opportunity!

Application Process

The applications for the Summer and Fall Judicial Externships will be available in Room 601, Law Offices, as of Friday, February 16.

Completed applications for Summer Externships should be submitted to Ms. Carole Ross, Secretary to Professor Gross, Room 612 of Law Offices on Monday, March 4, 1996, at 5:00 p.m.

Completed applications for Fall Externships should be submitted to Ms. Carole Ross, Secretary to Professor Gross, Room 612 of Law Offices on Wednesday, March 13, 1996, at 5:00 p.m.

Pro Bono Opportunity

Pro Bono Advocates is an organization dedicated to providing legal services to economically disadvantaged victims of domestic violence, through the efforts of staff and volunteer attorneys, assisted by law students and others. PBA/LAW also undertakes advocacy to improve and increase free legal services to battered women and the poor.

HERE'S WHERE YOU COME IN: PBA is looking for law students to participate in its work. You can conduct detailed interviews of prospective clients, help to determine their eligibility for a protective order under the pertinent statute, prepare the initial pleadings for an emergency order of protection, fill out other necessary judicial forms, and otherwise assist in helping these domestic violence victims get legal redress and move on with their lives. If you have a 7-11 license, you can represent clients in court, under the supervision of a licensed attorney. You also may be able to assist attorneys who are representing PBA clients in divorce proceedings. In short, you can help persons in need of help from the legal system while honing your own professional skills.
If you are interested in undertaking this pro bono activity, contact Prof. Joan Steinman (a member of the governing Board of PBA) (e-mail: jsteinma) and give her a copy of your resume. She will forward your resume to Swati Avasthi at PBA, who will arrange an interview with you. PBA will provide training. Thanks!

GayLaw

Two interesting articles provided to the confidential listgroup this past week:

1.) The Internal Revenue Service recently issued a Private Letter Ruling addressing employer benefit plans which include coverage for domestic partners. The IRS said that an employer does not forfeit favorable tax treatment under the Code when it adds on coverage for domestic partners. Domestic partners would include same gendered couples, as well as non married opposite gendered couples...
The Record

living together. This is important because if a benefit plan lost its deductibility feature as a business expense for the employer, then few employers would provide the coverage.

2.) The Tennessee Court of Appeals recently ruled unanimously that the Tennessee law against homosexual sex violates the right of privacy in the state constitution. The opinion written by Judge Frank Crawford states: "We conclude that our citizens' fundamental right to privacy ("the right to be let alone") encompasses the plaintiff's right to engage in consensual, private, non-commercial, sexual conduct, because that activity involve(es) intimate questions of personal and family concern.

If you would like to receive interesting articles like these, please e-mail Lora Kirk (LKIRK) and let her know. This is a great way to keep informed on cutting edge issues in the ever changing legal arena in which we expect, "Justice For All."

Have a great week!

Today(1/31/1996)
Chicago-Kent College of Law is pleased to announce the establishment of a J.D. Certificate Program in Labor and Employment Law. Beginning in Fall 1996, students may elect to pursue a Certificate in Labor and Employment Law as part of their J.D. studies.

What is the Certificate Program in Labor and Employment Law?

The Certificate Program in Labor and Employment Law is a course of study designed for law students who wish to specialize in the law governing the work place.

Through a logical, carefully paced sequence of coursework and practical skills-training, this program provides comprehensive, rigorous preparation for the field of labor and employment law, a dynamic area of concentration that includes labor unions, equal employment opportunity, employment relationships, and employee benefits.

Who is eligible for this program?

The program is open to any student who is enrolled at Chicago-Kent. Day students begin the program in their second year; evening students in their second or third year.

The program is designed for students with a broad range of backgrounds. Some will have actual work experience in labor and employment relations, while others simply have a keen interest in this challenging area of law.

What is required to earn the Certificate?

Day students should take the following courses in their second year. Evening students should take them in their second or third years:

- Labor Law (4 credits) which covers labor union/employer relationships

- Employment Relationship (3 credits) which covers individual employee/employer relationships

- Employment Discrimination (3 credits) which covers equal employment opportunity

- Advanced Research and Drafting in Labor Law (3 credits) takes the place of the standard required courses in Advanced Research and Legal Drafting.

Third year day and fourth year evening students fulfill a required clinical component, by taking one of the following courses:

- Employment Law Clinic, working in-house with Professor Gonzalez or Professor Norton

- Labor/Employment Law Externship, placement with a law firm, corporation, union, or government agency

- Employment Litigation, a classroom simulation course

Students are also required to take one elective. Current offerings from which to choose are Employee Benefits Law and Workers Compensation. Additional offerings are anticipated.

Students fulfill the Law School's seminar requirement by taking a specialized seminar. Current offerings are Public Sector Employment, Disability Law, and Collective Bargaining and Arbitration. Additional offerings are anticipated.

Who are the program faculty?

Martin Malin, professor of law and director of the Program in Labor and Employment Law, is a former national chair of the Association of American Law Schools Labor Law Section. An active labor mediator and arbitrator serving on numerous national panels, he has written extensively on all aspects of labor and employment law, including Individual Rights Within the Union, the leading treatise on the relationship between workers and their labor unions.

Howard Eglit, professor of law, has written extensively in the areas of law and aging, employment discrimination, and constitutional law, and is a former national chair of the Association of American Law Schools Section on Law and Aging. A respected arbitrator, he is the author of the three-volume treatise Age Discrimination.

Rafael Gely, assistant professor of law, holds a Ph.D. in labor and industrial relations as well as a law degree. He is the author of numerous published works in the areas of employment law, law and economics, and the interaction of law and social sciences.

Richard Gonzalez, clinical assistant professor of law, is an expert in employment discrimination and wrongful discharge. A former administrative law judge for the Illinois Human Rights Commission, he currently teaches courses in pre-trial litigation, negotiations, and alternative dispute resolution.

Terrance Norton, clinical associate professor of law, specializes in civil litigation, with an emphasis on employment discrimination and civil rights. A certified mediator, he teaches litigation and alternative dispute resolution.

Jeffrey Sherman, professor of law, is the author of Pension Planning and Deferred Compensation, the leading law school casebook on employee benefits law. He has published extensively in the areas of employee benefits, taxation, and wills.

Mary Rose Strubbe, visiting assistant professor of law, teaches legal writing and research. Before joining Chicago-Kent, she spent 11 years in private practice handling employment-related matters.

Why study Labor and Employment Law at Chicago-Kent?

Chicago-Kent is one of the nation's leaders in Labor and Employment Law. Driven by the strength and visibility of its labor and employment law faculty, Chicago-Kent has evolved into a resource center bringing together students, faculty, and the practicing professional community.

Chicago-Kent sponsors the annual, nationally-acclaimed Piper Lecture on labor and employment law and co-sponsors annual conferences on Federal Sector Labor Law and Labor Relations. The law school also co-sponsors the annual conference on Illinois Public Sector Labor Law as well as the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service's biannual conference for labor arbitrators.

Chicago-Kent's two recently published symposia -- "Labor Arbitration Thirty Years After the Steelworkers Trilogy" and "The Legal Future of Employee Representation" -- have been well received by the community, the latter republished as a hardbound book by Cornell University's ILR Press. Hundreds of labor and employment professionals also subscribe to Chicago-Kent's quarterly "Illinois Public Employee Relations Report."
