CRITICAL INFORMATION REGARDING: NEED-AND-MERIT-BASED AND MERIT-ONLY SCHOLARSHIPS

Continuing students are eligible to receive both need-and-merit-based and merit-only scholarships. Need-and-merit-based awards constitute a larger dollar amount than merit-only scholarships.

Merit-only scholarships do not require a financial aid application. If you are only interested in these merit-only scholarships, you do not need to apply for financial aid.

If you want to be considered for need-and-merit-based scholarships, then you must complete all of the financial aid forms, even if you are not planning to take out student loans. The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) must be received by the processor no later than April 1, 1996, and the Institutional Application for Financial Aid must be received by the Chicago-Kent College of Law Office of Admissions and Financial Aid, Suite 230, no later than April 1, 1996.

Criminal Trial Film Series

This week’s movie is “A Cry in the Dark,” starring Meryl Streep and Sam Neill. Like many movies in the series, the story is true. The movie depicts Australia’s 1980 “trial of the century,” a genuine media circus in which a mother is tried for slaying her infant daughter. The movie was made in 1988, but, similarities to certain more recent American events are eerie. Show time is 4:00 p.m. on Tuesday, February 20 in the auditorium. See you there!!

Pro Bono Opportunity

PBA/LAW also undertakes advocacy to improve and increase free legal services to battered women and the poor.

HERE’S WHERE YOU COME IN: PBA is looking for law students to participate in its work. You can conduct detailed interviews of prospective clients, help to determine their eligibility for a protective order under the pertinent statute, prepare the initial pleadings for an emergency order of protection, fill out other necessary judicial forms, and otherwise assist in helping these domestic violence victims get legal redress and move on with their lives. If you have a 7-11 license, you can represent clients in court, under the supervision of a licensed attorney. You also may be able to assist attorneys who are representing PBA clients in divorce proceedings. In short, you can help persons in need of help from the legal system while honing your own professional skills.

If you are interested in undertaking this pro bono activity, contact Prof. Joan Steinman (a member of the governing Board of PBA) (e-mail: jsteinma) and give her a copy of your resume. She will forward your resume to Swati Avasthi at PBA, who will arrange an interview with you. PBA will provide training. Thanks!

In June, 1995, Rosenberger won the Supreme Court case, Rosenberger v. Rector and Visitors of the University of Virginia, in which the Supreme Court endorsed the view that the Establishment Clause does not compel, and that the rest of the First Amendment forbids, discrimination against religious speech in government subsidy programs. The University of Virginia had refused to fund Rosenberger's religious student newspaper with "student activities" funds that were otherwise available to student organizations of all viewpoints.

The Christian Legal Society is also organizing an informal lunch prayer meeting. For those that are interested we will be meeting each day during the noon hour. The room has yet to be determined and in the meantime we are meeting in the Spak. If you have any questions please email CCOOPER.

Federalist Society

On February 29 at noon in room 170, Ron Rosenberger will be talking about his Supreme Court victory over the UVA. Decalogue and the Christian Law Students are co-sponsoring this event. Come and listen to what the Court said about the UVA picking and choosing which religious groups it will fund on their campus. Come and listen to what it is like to appear before the highest court in the land. Come and listen to conjecture about what this ruling of the summer of 1995 might mean to other civil rights issues. Refreshments will be served.

On March 14, from 3:30 until 5:00 p.m. in room 570, the Federalist Society and the National lawyers’ Guild invite you to hear a discussion of Due Process litigation. What is procedural litigation and how does it affect social policy and criminal law in the United States? Speaking will be Michael Avery and David Rudovsky, two esteemed civil rights attorneys, along with Michael Horowitz, a fellow of the Hudson Institute and former counsel of the OMB. These speakers are of the highest caliber and we are lucky to have them. In fact, Misters Rudovsky and Avery will be speaking at Professor Nahmod’s annual Section 1983 Conference. That conference takes place on this date and the day after (14 and 15) and was open to students last year.

If that isn’t enough to entice you on a Thursday, we will be serving refreshments at this event also.

The Chicago Lawyers Chapter of the Federalist Society would like you to know that Dr. Walter Berns of the American Enterprise Institute will speak on “Lincoln, America’s Greatest Poet: An Expression of America’s Founding Principles” at the Chicago Athletic Association on February 28. No, Lincoln was not a member of the Chicago Athletic Association, that is where this luncheon event will be held. Contact CHAGE, SGAUTIER, KSCHERER, or JMRAZ if you are interested in attending.

The Federalist Society Student Symposium will be held on February 23 and 24 at the Stanford School of Law. The topic is the Criminal Justice Process. We are sure that one of the panels will discuss the OJ, Menendez or Oklahoma bombing trials. Contact one of the Federalist Society Officers listed above if you are interested.

Introducing
Chicago-Kent's J.D. Certificate in Labor and Employment Law

Chicago-Kent College of Law is pleased to announce the establishment of a J.D. Certificate Program in Labor and Employment Law. Beginning in Fall 1996, students may elect to pursue a Certificate in Labor and Employment Law as part of their J.D. studies.

What is the Certificate Program in Labor and Employment Law?

The Certificate Program in Labor and Employment Law is a course of study designed for law students who wish to specialize in the law governing the work place.

Through a logical, carefully paced sequence of coursework and practical skills-training, this program provides comprehensive, rigorous preparation for the field of labor and employment law, a dynamic area of concentration that includes labor unions, equal employment opportunity, employment relationships, and employee benefits.

Who is eligible for this program?

The program is open to any student who is enrolled at Chicago-Kent. Day students begin the program in their second year; evening students in their second or third year.

The program is designed for students with a broad range of backgrounds. Some will have actual work experience in labor and employment relations, while others simply have a keen interest in this challenging area of law.

What is required to earn the Certificate?

Day students should take the following courses in their second year. Evening students should take them in their second or third years:

- Labor Law (4 credits) which covers labor union/employer relationships

- Employment Relationship (3 credits) which covers individual employee/employer relationships

- Employment Discrimination (3 credits) which covers equal employment opportunity

- Advanced Research and Drafting in Labor Law (3 credits) takes the place of the standard required courses in Advanced Research and Legal Drafting.

Third year day and fourth year evening students fulfill a required clinical component, by taking one of the following courses:

- Employment Law Clinic, working in-house with Professor Gonzalez or Professor Norton

- Labor/Employment Law Externship, placement with a law firm, corporation, union, or government agency

- Employment Litigation, a classroom simulation course

Students are also required to take one elective. Current offerings from which to choose are Employee Benefits Law and Workers Compensation. Additional offerings are anticipated.

Students fulfill the Law School's seminar requirement by taking a specialized seminar. Current offerings are Public Sector Employment, Disability Law, and Collective Bargaining and Arbitration. Additional offerings are anticipated.

Who are the program faculty?

Martin Malin, professor of law and director of the Program in Labor and Employment Law, is a former national chair of the Association of American Law Schools Labor Law Section. An active labor mediator and arbitrator serving on numerous national panels, he has written extensively on all aspects of labor and employment law, including Individual Rights Within the Union, the leading treatise on the relationship between workers and their labor unions.

Howard Eglit, professor of law, has written extensively in the areas of law and aging, employment discrimination, and constitutional law, and is a former national chair of the Association of American Law Schools Section on Law and Aging. A respected arbitrator, he is the author of the three-volume treatise Age Discrimination.

Rafael Gely, assistant professor of law, holds a Ph.D. in labor and industrial relations as well as a law degree. He is the author of numerous published works in the areas of employment law, law and economics, and the interaction of law and social sciences.

Richard Gonzalez, clinical assistant professor of law, is an expert in employment discrimination and wrongful discharge. A former administrative law judge for the Illinois Human Rights Commission, he currently teaches courses in pre-trial litigation, negotiations, and alternative dispute resolution.

Terrance Norton, clinical associate professor of law, specializes in civil litigation, with an emphasis on employment discrimination and civil rights. A certified mediator, he teaches litigation and alternative dispute resolution.

Jeffrey Sherman, professor of law, is the author of Pension Planning and Deferred Compensation, the leading law school casebook on employee benefits law. He has published extensively in the areas of employee benefits, taxation, and wills.

Mary Rose Strubbe, visiting assistant professor of law, teaches legal writing and research. Before joining Chicago-Kent, she spent 11 years in private practice handling employment-related matters.

Why study Labor and Employment Law at Chicago-Kent?

Chicago-Kent is one of the nation’s leaders in Labor and Employment Law. Driven by the strength and visibility of its labor and employment law faculty, Chicago-Kent has evolved into a resource center bringing together students, faculty, and the practicing professional community.

Chicago-Kent sponsors the annual, nationally-acclaimed Piper Lecture on labor and employment law and co-sponsors annual conferences on Federal Sector Labor Law and Labor Relations. The law school also co-sponsors the annual conference on Illinois Public Sector Labor Law as well as the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service’s biannual conference for labor arbitrators.

Chicago-Kent’s two recently published symposia -- "Labor Arbitration Thirty Years After the Steelworkers Trilogy" and "The Legal Future of Employee Representation" -- have been well received by the community, the latter republished as a hardbound book by Cornell University’s ILR Press. Hundreds of labor and employment professionals also subscribe to Chicago-Kent’s quarterly "Illinois Public Employee Relations Report."
