THE BULLETIN.

This number reaches you with the spirit of the Christmas season and through the BULLETIN the Faculty extends to the Students and Alumni their very best wishes for a MERRY CHRISTMAS and HAPPY and PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR. The New Year will see the Bulletin stronger than ever; we are receiving the desired co-operation, the subscriptions are coming in fast and our advertising space is rapidly being contracted for. Our intentions are to make this paper second to none and with the assistance of the students and Alumni this can be easily accomplished. Don’t forget to send in any items that you think would look good in the Bulletin. The Staff of the Bulletin joins with the Faculty of the COLLEGE with their best wishes for a MERRY CHRISTMAS and A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

ALUMNI NOTES

Judge Joseph Sabath of the Superior Court, a Kent man, recently delivered a lecture to the Safety First Association in Convention at Baltimore, touching on his work while Judge of the Speeders' Court.

Harry Gibbons is now associated with Shepard, McCormick, Thomson, Kirkland and Patterson.

There is some talk about former County Judge Owens being a candidate for Mayor on the Democratic ticket.

John J. Sullivan (Judge of Superior Court) was installed as (-). His courtroom is on the 11th floor of the County Building.

Quite a few men were successful in going over at the recent Bar Examination held in Springfield.

ALUMNI NOTES

John B. McComb, ’16, is practicing law at Marion, Indiana.

Bernard F. Barasa was recently installed as Judge of the Municipal Court. Mr. Barasa is a Kent graduate and a very successful lawyer. He is one of the three Italian Judges who hold the position of Judges in the United States, the other two being in New York City.

Former Judge Fred L. Fiske, ’97, is an ardent and enthusiastic Alumni of Kent.

Harry G. Keats is another Kent man who takes good care of you in the Probate Judge’s Office.

Mr. Alex H. Hardie, ’13, is now located at Ft. Atkinson. Wis. Mr. Hardie will be remembered as the talented cartoonist who having no arms, overcame this handicap by holding his pen in his mouth. He was an excellent student at Kent. He will take the Wisconsin Bar examination at Milwaukee in January.

Howard P. Castle, ’01, recently became the father of a lusty infant son who has been named Howard P., Jr.

Abner J. Stilwell, ’15, passed the December bar examinations, along with John D. Reynolds, Jr.

Joseph J. Murray, ’53, Kent, Assistant City Corporation Counsel, in charge of Fire Department, died Saturday, Dec. 9. Mr. Murray was born and educated in Chicago. He was graduated from St. Mary’s Academy and the Kent College of Law. For several years he was municipal clerk in the Superior Court, and for a time was counsel for the drainage board. Four years ago he was appointed fire attorney by Mayor Harrison.

Ab Stilwell is wearing a big smile these days. “Ab” journeyed to Springfield the other day and took the Bar Exams. Now he’s a full-fledged Attorney. He is connected with Losch, Scofield and Losch, and is Providence President of Phi Delta Phi Fraternity.

Wm. T. Pridmore, ’16, is associated with the law firm of Hes, Eberhart and O’Connor in the Tribune Building.

Mr. Leslie M. O’Connor is now on the legal staff of Winston, Payne, Strawn and Shaw.

Lowell Jackson Thomas, now Instructor of Public Speaking at Princeton University, has been offered the position of directing the speakers’ bureau for Mayor Mitchell’s campaign for re-election as Mayor of New York City.

Weymouth Kirkland, ’96, of the firm of Shepard, McCormick, Thomson, Kirkland and Patterson, is a Kent man who has certainly been successful in the legal world.

PROF. WELCH APPOINTED MASTER IN CHANCERY

It is with pleasure that we announce to the readers of the Bulletin the appointment of Prof. Ninian H. Welch as Master in Chancery. His appointment reflects not only upon the splendid character of the Judge but upon all with whom he comes in contact.

We trust that fate has in store for Prof. Welch many more good things, among them an elevation to the Bench.

NINIAN H. WELCH.

Born in Lake County, Illinois, and reared on a farm. Trained as a teacher in Normal School, prepared for college while teaching country school. Graduated from Wheaton College with degree of Bachelor of Science. Pursued a course of Philosophy and History in Beloit College. Studied Economics and Political Science at Lake Forest University, received therefrom the degree of Master of Arts. Was graduated from Chicago-Kent College of Law in 1902. Occupies Chair of Sales and Personal Property in Chicago-Kent College of Law. Is member of firm of Welch, Moody and Welch, with offices at Suite 501, Association Building.

ALUMNI NOTES

“Judge” Pickett, Professor of Evidence, is figuring on conducting a quiz class for the July Bar Exams.

Ninian H. Welch obliged very nicely with a speech on Chicago, at the November Dinner of the Public Speaking Class. The Judge was at his best.
JUNIOR NOTES

Stienke impresses one as being a heavy thinker; he's certainly "explosive."

Speaking of orderly arrangement, our "bedroom" of traverces is all balled up.

We are glad to be able to say Halpin & Wilkerson are still with us "alasque holl" all serene and quiet in Section II.

It was remarked that Ries had Prof. Pickett just about "sized" up but we claim not from every angle.

Levi is some apologizer.

If Shakespeare had the right dope on sleep there is one, at least, we know, who must have that "ravelled sleeve" just about "knitted up."

There is an appreciable falling off in attention, lively interest, and frugulence since September, for which all (including the chief offenders) are heartily thanked.

The "Just Stopper" club is reported to have contemplated disbanding, due to a lack of support on the part of its former members. One of the charter members was heard to say, "I can't run in competition with Pickett, Higgins and the rest of the 'profs.'" They make it too interesting.

Quite groups are popular at present, many of the members having organized several regularly conducted classes among themselves. How many days before Examination?

Many members of the section are enrolled in the "Burke Debating Society," which meets Thursday evenings after classes.

We haven't heard from Messrs. Voight, "Oll" Smith, Sampson, et alius for a long time.

Peterson, from the Twin City institution, brings some wholesome enthusiasm to the class and other newcomers as well are showing a lively interest.

When Freshmen we boasted our good fortune in having Pringle, Welch, Messing, Northrup and Jackson. This year we feel equally as fortunate in the privilege of hearing Burke, Pickett, Boddinghouse and Higgins.

Land, Sagle, Wetsman, Steinkne, Flota and MANY others generally hit the nail on the head and a good many of us hit the nail on the Thumb.

With examinations a month in the offing it is time, as the Judge would say, "to get down to brass tacks."

Judge Pickett has been conducting parties of a dozen or so to the different courts in the County Building. These excursions have been made on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The benefit to the student of acquiring evidence at first hand is appreciated by all and the Judge is to be commended for his interest in our behalf.

Journalism, like school-teaching, has been a stepping stone for many a man who has eventually attained great eminence. The opportunity afforded Kent students by the publications of the Bulletin is an unusual one. Endeavor to give us some item or article that will at the same time indicate your power of expression and reflect your interest in the school. The Bulletin is your paper to the extent that you co-operate in its production.

John D. Michael, Jr., has transferred to the junior class from George Washington University, Washington, D. C.

Joe Bulanda is now committing to immortal print the inspirations that he formerly delivered orally. He now adorns the staff of the Bulletin.

Class elections for this year are over and is is apparent that candidates who are already actively planning for the next campaign are a little forehand. There should be at least one who also plans to get his history corrected. An ignorant man is the most merciless critic.

FRESHMAN NOTES

We will really regret the end of our sessions in criminal law, which are now rapidly drawing to a close. To study this most interesting branch of the law under one of its ablest practitioners has been a privilege of the highest order.

Hon. Kennedy of the other (First) section has a baby girl that am gone baby. If we were on the staff of a big daily, and if we had a wife, and if she presented a full length picture on the front page. But Kennedy is a sort of a phlegmatic cuss and is prevented from "serious work" by his old mother peering over it. But we can guess how he feels.

The Supreme Court has not as yet reversed a single decision of Judge Welch's in the Sales Class Court.

WHAT?

Now that we have a good, strong constitution, let's start something. How about it?

Add to list of famous statesmen the names of Holmes, Alberg and Handleman. They wrote the Constitution of the Class of 1919.

A Legal Mind

There was recently brought before a police magistrate in the South an old darkey who had fallen foul of a bulldog while in the act of entering the henhouse of the dog's owner.

"Didn't I give you ten days last month for this same offense?" asked the magistrate. "It was the same hen-house you were trying to get into. What have you to say for yourself?"

The darkey seemed perplexed. "Yo' honah," he said, "yo' sent me to the county for 'to' steal some chickens, didn't yo'?"

"Yes; that was the charge."

"An' don't data say yo' can't be charged twice with de same offense?"

That no man shall be twice placed in jeopardy for the identical offense."

"Den, yo' honah, youse gotta let me go, suh. I was after de same chickens, suh."-Louisville Times.
At the first meeting of the Senior class of the Chicago Kent College of Law, Mr. C. Locke, Professor of Law, announced that it has been brought to his attention that some members of the Junior class contemplated bringing out a year-book. In accordance therewith, at this meeting, the Junior class held a joint meeting with similar committees from the two lower classes and the subject of a year book was thoroughly discussed. As at this meeting the various classes definitely committed themselves to the publishing of the year book, it is tentatively decided that the year book should contain the following:

1. The picture of each student, such pictures to be grouped on the pages of the book, six to a page.
2. A group picture of the officers of the Freshman class.
3. The individual pictures of the faculty members.
4. A group picture of the junior class.
5. A group picture of the officers of the Junior class.
6. A group picture of the officers of the Freshman class.
7. A group picture of the officers of the Senior class.
8. A picture of the school building and pictures of the halls.
9. The book should be dedicated to some member of the school and on the support and enthusiasm with which he has helped the school to the fact that this is a wonderful, magical fountain. So, Freshmen, Junior and Senior girls, let's add a bit of fresh lace here and there on our same old gown and be a "good fellow."
10. An allotment of space to the faculty for such articles as the editors of the year book or the classes think appropriate.
11. The book should be allotted one page for each of junior and freshman class pictures, seven pages for the faculty pictures, and two pages for the pictures of the building, halls, etc. In connection with the editorial work of publishing the book it is planned that a volume of between one hundred and two hundred pages will be required. It is now estimated that the sixty pages for senior class pictures, one page for the picture of their officers, three pages for each of junior and freshman class pictures, seven pages for the faculty pictures, and two pages for the pictures of the building, halls, etc.

The year book will be ready for distribution during the first week of April. It is expected that there will be a price of about $2.00 per copy. The Subscription price is $2.00 per copy. The book will be limited to those who have subscribed and pay the subscription price by the 15th of January, 1918.

Attention, Ladies of Kent College! Now there is a chance to show a proper college spirit. Let's all go to the frolic. Be a good mixer, which is a necessary asset to be successful in any lawyer or law-ery. Don't wait to be invited by one of the class fellows, for the most of them may be out in their own side classes just this evening. But come, and bring along your own brother or some one else's brother, your father or even your own self, for these days of high stepping to the music of the Fox Trot grandfathers are made to feel liberally. You may find the wonderful, magical fountain. So, Freshmen, Junior and Senior girls, let's add a bit of fresh lace here and there on our same old gown and be a "good fellow."

Be at the Lexington Hotel, Friday evening, January 19, where old Kent College will "pull off" an entertainment and dance which every member of the three classes will be glad to say they attended.

SUBMARINE ATTACK ON BOOZE
For the married man who cannot get along without drink, the following is suggested as a means of being freed from the bondage of the saloon.
Start a saloon in your own home. Be the only customer (you’ll have no license to pay). Go to your wife and give her two dollars to buy a gallon of whiskey which contains 60 drinks. Buy your drinks from no one but your wife, and by the time that the first gallon is quaffed she will have eight dollars to put into the bank and two dollars to start business again. Should you live ten years and continue to buy booze from her and then die of tremens she will have enough money to educate your children, buy a house and lot, marry a decent man, and quit thinking about you entirely. E. S.

SENIOR NOTES
At a class meeting held on the third of December, President Bristol appointed the following members of the different committees:

Year Book—Amos B. Whittle, Chairman; Frank T. Cohn, Chairman; Pictures, Geo. Kolkow; Invitations, Geo. McCaffrey; Cap and Gown, H. R. Trinkhaus.

The election of class orator, prophet and sergeant-at-arms was held last Tuesday, December 12th. Mr. Roy Levenson was the successful candidate for orator. Mr. Amos Whittle elected as prophet and upon Mr. Samuel Davidson was conferred the honor of sergeant-at-arms.

Asi Randolph Thornton what it is, The School of French Dressing.

Who puts the rolls in bulletin? (Don’t all speak at once).

Somebody’s knocked the L out of Kelly—he doesn’t show up any more.

On Tuesday, December 12, a meeting of the Senior class was held at which the election of class officers was consumed.

The complete list of officers as it now appears is as follows:

Class of 1910—Jeffries vs. Johnson. Class of 1910 was the successful candidate for orator. Class of 1910-1911 was the successful candidate for prophet. Class of 1910-1911-1912 was the successful candidate for sergeant-at-arms.

Entertainment Committee—Frank T. Cohen, Chairman; Messrs. Daggett, S. Ryan, McCaffrey, Moran, Sympinis, Pedersen, Gavin and R. Levinson.

Cap and Gown Committee—Henry R. Thornton, Chairman; Messrs. Ennis, Harper and Miss Vernon.

Program and Invitation Committee—George J. Kolnow, Chairman; Messrs. Peregrine, Miller, Mannion, Ellis and Flue.

PUBLIC SPEAKING NOTES
The last dinner was a great success. There will be none in December owing to the closeness of the Holiday season. The next dinner will be given a part of January and it is likely to be a novel affair.

Harry Tiffany, '16, gave a talk on "The Plan of the Future," and showed the students the possibilities of young men in Chicago.

Hackett was there with a very good talk on "Movies and Morals," and he touched them all, from Mary Pickford down.

DuRand was as usual the hit of the program, with his quaint but pleasant manner of telling the audience things they like to hear.

Kephington roamed around Chicago and told us of the good and bad things to be found there.

The ladies were out in force at the last dinner and lent much interest to the affair. It was some beauty squad. Nagel, Weismann and Ferguson with the happy ladies, were all seated and waiting for the evening. How could they do otherwise with their charming companions?

"Some," Jennie Bryan says, "The age of oratory has not passed; nor will it pass. As long as there are human rights to be defended, as long as there are great interests to be guarded; as long as the welfare of nations is a matter for discussion, so long will public speaking have its place."

The moral is, "Join the Public Speaking Class."

We listen with interest to Blauner and Juckerman and their fiery opponents Messrs. Handelman and Hacket because they have something to say. They are vitally interested in their subject but appear to hold a slight difference of opinion as to the merits of Socialism.

Hanks took an oratorical trip to North Dakota, and in the course of the trip he visited the residents of that progressive state east of the air cyclones in moving their building. According to Hanks the building cyclone will move any building any distance without disturbing the family cat.

"Our real estate business," said Mr. Fullenkamp and wound up by wishing us all a Merry Christmas. Here’s hoping he has both of them.

Mr. Leitzel discussed salesmanship pro and con. Mostly con. Leitzel could sell ice to an eskimo.

Dickens wrote a spirited account of the great Pickwick addressing the Pickwick Club. He should have lived to hear Thomas, the eloquent Republican senatorial committeeman from the 13th district, smilingly grant suffrage to the ladies of the Class. Thomas is not grateful. He says the ladies helped elect him to his high office.

"I give the private banker a show," said Mr. Ratenburg. According to him the aforesaid banker is a much abused gentleman who would make a very desirable citizen if given a chance.

Cockrell went to Michigan, and discovered an Indian with "morals," and a perfectly good Indian nevertheless. "The Indian," he says, "was over six feet in height and slept and ate well." This is worthy of note.
