History

The Chicago-Kent Board of Overseers is an advisory body responsible for government of the law school. Much of the work of the Board of Overseers took place through smaller committees, such as the Dean Search Committee, Student Life Committee, Development Committee, Library Committee, and Membership Committee. In the early 90s, board members were selected by members to serve 1 or 3-year terms, with six ex-officio members.

The chairman of the Board of Overseers in 1990 was David B. Horn ('76), followed by John R. Schmidt of Mayer Brown LLP in 1998. Thomas A. Demetrio ('73) of Corboy & Demetrio, was appointed chairman in 2011.

Scope and Contents

Meeting materials and records of the Law School Board of Overseers. Materials contain agenda for periodic meetings, member lists, and supporting materials as well as minutes of previous meetings. Of particular interest in meeting materials is information regarding the groundbreaking and construction of the Downtown Center at 565 W. Adams Street (materials from years 1990-1992) and information regarding the fundraising campaign for the new building.
